

Alida Lo Coco is Full Professor of Developmental and Educational Psychology. Her research interests are focused on such topics as social, emotional and personality development, peer relationships and friendship, empathic responsiveness, student's academic and psychological adjustment; intercultural relations, autonomy and relatedness during adolescence, cultural studies.